Employer Champion Testimonial

Seng Ooi, TELUS

As a former immigrant, I think the MentorConnect program is super valuable. When I immigrated, this program wasn't available to me but having now been a mentor for over 8 years, I know back then I would have been very appreciative of having a program like this. The opportunity to interface with mentors who bring the Canadian business experience is extremely valuable to someone new to Canada.

From understanding the different business environment, to understanding some of the cultural differences, mentorship can make a huge difference in how quickly a new immigrant can be successful in Canada.

TESTIMONIALS

Evan Young

Employer Champion and Mentor, RBC

I've had the pleasure of working with the team at IEC-BC for the past 6 years as both a Mentor & Employer Advocate for the Mentor Connect Program. I've had the pleasure of working with many talented New To Canada individuals who I was able to share my perspectives on the Canadian Employment landscape but also that I learned a lot from as well. The program is well run and encourages both the Mentor & Mentee to enter with an open mind in hopes of both parties having meaningful takeaways. I can attest to this being a reality with that mindset.

I now am one of the Employer Advocates for my organization RBC where I'm privileged to share this program with as many colleagues as possible to give their time to help bridge the gap for other New To Canada individuals. I will always recommend IEC-BC as a great starting point for anyone looking to Mentor as I'm sure any individual involved will be able to feel the impact that they make by providing their time! Thank you for all you do Team IEC-BC!

Mentee

This mentorship program proved invaluable to me as a newcomer to Canada. Despite my initial preparations and research, navigating the nuances of Canadian culture and the job market can be daunting. The mentor provided crucial guidance, ensuring that my resume and communication with companies were polished and effective. Beyond practical advice, their encouragement and support bolstered my confidence, preventing me from losing faith in my journey.

Transitioning into Canada's unique market can be challenging, and having a knowledgeable mentor by your side to facilitate that transition is truly indispensable.
